Testimonials

“In the teaching role, there is little time or space for reflection...While I love the dynamic nature of teaching, there is immense value in giving staff time to reflect on their classroom experiences”

“I found the training really engaging and informative, and it has not just helped me to run supervision sessions, but it has also supported me with coaching/mental health-based conversations too”

“The online catch-up sessions (after the training) provided valuable space for personal reflection on our practice and how we could extend the supervision model in our school”.
